PROCLAMATION OF ARBOR DAY IN ARIZONA

Pursuant to the provisions of Paragraphs 2837-2840 of the Revised Statutes of Arizona, 1913, I, Geo. W. P. Hunt, Governor of Arizona, do hereby designate and set apart the fifth day of February, A. D., 1915, as ARBOR DAY, to be observed in the Counties of Cochise, Gila, Graham, Greenlee, Maricopa, Pima, Pinal, Santa Cruz and Yuma; and, furthermore, I designate and set apart the second day of April A. D., 1915, as ARBOR DAY, to be observed in the Counties of Apache, Coconino, Mohave, Navajo and Yavapai. In recognition of the commendable national significance of Arbor Day as an occasion wherefrom the American people derive great benefit, it is recommended that the teachers and pupils of all public schools and higher institutions of learning shall hold appropriate exercises, and shall, by the transplanting of trees and shrubs, beautify, so far as possible, the grounds surrounding such places of instruction. It is further recommended that the people of Arizona shall make Arbor Day of the present year an occasion for promoting among the youth of the state a greater interest in the adornment of public places and in improving by the means, which Nature affords, all privately-owned domains, so that those generations, which succeed us in the manifold activities of life, may gratefully acknowledge our efforts to increase the beauty and value of their heritage. In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed. Done at Phoenix, the Capital, this nineteenth day of January, A. D., 1915.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—When the war broke out in August the world was positive that there would be no more Paris fashions. "American Clothes for American Women," became the slogan of the day, emphasized and encouraged by dressmakers and manufacturers. After all was said and done, however, the silhouette which Paris launched in August is that which has taken the United States by storm this winter. The waist is close fitting at the shoulders with a waistline well defined and the short skirt smooth over the hips and flaring at the ankles. The skirts are usually three-piece, although many are circular and some have as many as nine gores! But with all these gores and fullness, they do not look at all like the many gores skirts we wore in the first few years of this century, but appear in their style like those skirts and dresses of the Victorian period, with a "stick-i-outness" similar to the hoop skirts of that day. In fact, some of these dresses have petticoats with a reed run through a casing just above the knees. This holds out the fluffy full skirt in a delightfully easy manner. This is a style which is adapted especially to the thinner fabrics such

PROSPECTOR RETURNS

F. B. Hopkins, the well known valley rancher, has returned from a prospecting trip into Mexico.

If all the people's representatives in the Arizona legislature adopt the system put in force by Yuma's lawmakers, no one will have any excuse for saying "they don't know." The people of Yuma county should know what laws are in the making, and why. Such is the belief of Representatives James L. Edwards of Yuma and J. B. Flanagan of Parker, who will do all in their power to keep the people informed each day during the life of the present session of the legislature, as explained in the following letter received today:

On a placard to be placed in garages and hotels throughout this section of the state, will be a message somewhat as follows: Auto Tourists: The Borderland Automobile Club of Tucson wants to meet you. They have established a bureau of information which is at your service. The chairman of the committee is Wairan A. Grosseta. Inquire either of him or of John F. Myers, secretary of the chamber of commerce. Upon presenting himself at the bureau of information, each tourist will be given a card, reading, "Introducing Mr. _____, guest of the Borderland Automobile Club. We want your stay in Tucson to be pleasant. We will be glad to have you ask questions and if you will call when you are about to leave, we will see that you are correctly directed on your way. If you have any complaints to make, please make them to us."
